Each day
Mrs. Campbell
greeted her students with a gentle voice and a reassuring smile. She inspires all of us, whether it be by making the world of history come alive, or by giving a welcoming glance to those she passes by on campus.

As graduation advisor, Mrs. Campbell's constant commitment to each class is undisputable. Every year she coordinates all aspects of this special event, from setup, to the very last detail of adjusting a senior's cap.

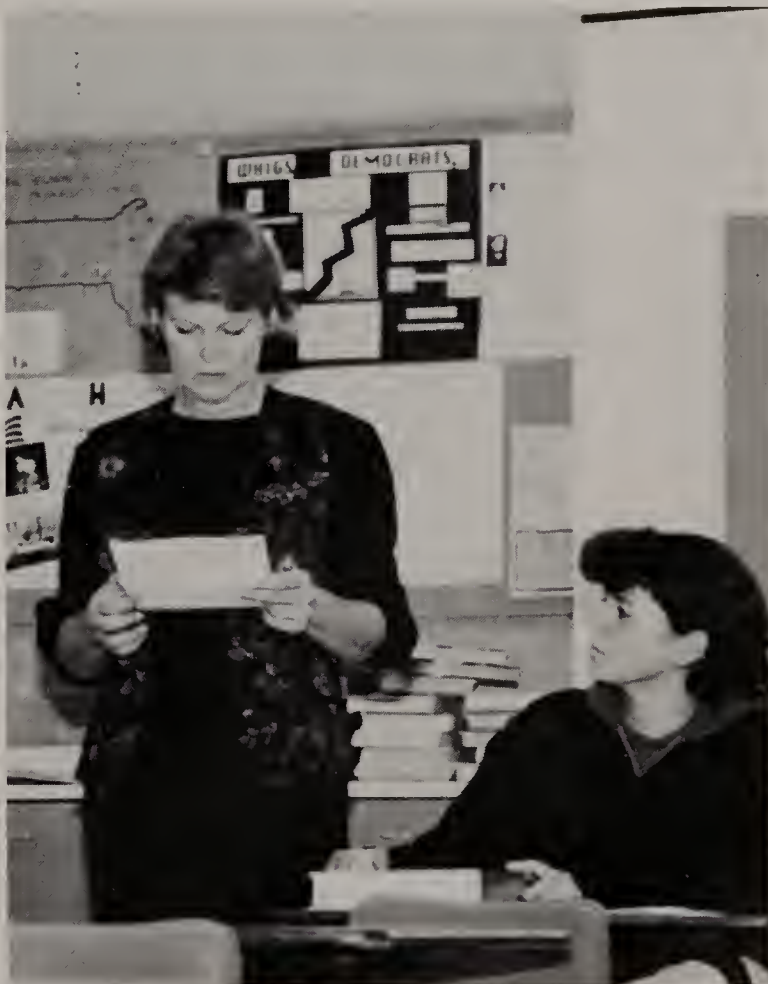

Be it in the classroom, at a school function, or even in the local supermarket, Mrs. Campbell is genuinely happy to meet and encourage every student. Therefore . . .

It is with great pride and happiness that the 1995 Nauset Tides Yearbook Staff dedicates this volume to Mrs. Diane Campbell.

Ever helpful, Mrs. Campbell takes a few moments from her other duties to straighten a senior's cap at graduation.

Working with her students to achieve excellence in their writing, Mrs. Campbell helps Gayle Harper with an in-class American History essay.

All in all, the Homecoming Games proved to be everything we had hoped. Winning every game sure got the year off to a good start and we all looked forward to the Dance in the weeks ahead.

The Games

By: Danielle Lofstrom and Jessica Davis

Nauset was on a roll making fishfood out of Chatham, P-town, and Harwich at the annual Homecoming games. The crowds rooted for their teams and huddled together with school spirit in the freezing cold.

The battle began at five o'clock when the Field Hockey team sunk the P-town fishermen with a 3-0 win. The crowd threw their hats in the air as Andrea Howard scored the third and final goal of the game. The Girls' Soccer team was next to strut their stuff. This game was crucial since they were meeting Chatham in a league matchup, and everyone on the Warriors team saw some playing time, sailing to a 6-0 victory. Then at eight o'clock out came our Boys' Soccer team, ready to put our arch rival Harwich in its rightful place. The game was intense; the crowd held its breath when the game was tied 2-2. Then at the last moment of the game Travis Manach surged through with the winning goal, scoring us a 3-2 win.

Mr. Sullivan, our athletic director was pleased with all three teams especially the field hockey and the boys soccer. He did stress, however, that the girls soccer team, being so strong, didn't have adequate competition, a key element in a great game.

All in all, the '94 Homecoming Games proved to be everything we had hoped. Winning every game sure got the year off to a good start and we all looked forward to the dance in the weeks ahead.

HOMECOMING

Everlasting Night

By: Mica S. Richardson

Ancient columns in splashes of gold and delicate black leaves filled the corners of the immense gym. A beautiful chandelier of black and gold balloons with strings of streamers and tiny bee lights draped from the ceiling. Star studded backdrops, stone fountains, and live trees added to the fantastic illusions. Colored lights filled the room and loud music brought many groups of people together for one of the most memorable nights of the year.

As students entered the transformed gym many thoughts crossed their minds. As I walked in the door my stomach was tossing and turning hoping that everyone thought I looked as nice as my mom and all moms always say we do. "I hope that no one has my dress," thought Jen Bachmann echoing the thoughts of others. Being embarrassed is something everyone tries to avoid especially on a night like homecoming when trying to make an impression. "I hope that I don't trip if I get crowned duke!" said Galen Gregory-Pindell.

When you reach your senior year, many different thoughts run through the minds of the students. Toni Bishop and Seth Krum relate these thoughts very well. Toni said "I was with a special person and the decorations were gorgeous. What more could I ask for at my last homecoming!" Seth went on to say, "I am honored to be king at my last homecoming and proud to be a part of the Nauset tradition!" As you look around the gym you notice how nice your teachers and friends look. You jump onto the dance floor and dance until you feel as though you're going to collapse. But, when that last slow song is announced, you grab your best guy or girlfriend and think about how much trouble you went through to prepare for the fastest four hours of the year. You survived getting your hair done and made it through the "suit and dress stress." You look great, your friends look great, your legs are aching from so much dancing, and the perfect limousine ride has made this a special night to remember. Now, all you're waiting for is the developed pictures that will hold this perfect night of memories in high school history forever!

“ Love is real, Love is kind,
Love is better when you never let it die. ”

Hi Remember the time when we were in 8th grade at lunch there was JPD CG KA CV KK MJS and me Nikki. Mike said and I quote “He made me” everyone in the cafeteria stopped talking and stared right at him and all we could do is laugh our butts off. We practly fell over in our chairs. I also remember when Joe, Kris, Charlie, and I were in the after school art class you guys made tape balls and threw them down my shirt. I could have killed you guys. Anyway we had alot of fun. Here is a poem I wrote to all of my friends; Friends are forever and they will always last, friends are forever from the future into the past. I would like to say goodbye and best wishes to R.S. K.T. A.J. T.P. B.T. J.P.D. M.J.S. A.C. K.K. K.A. C.V. A.W. J.H. and C.G.. My first love memories are vivid, won't forget them, Nikki.

First, honor, love, and thanks of highest mortal magnitude to my parents, Carole & Paul, for supporting (and withstanding) me through 17 ½ years, and giving me my love of learning. Next, thanks and honor of the next highest magnitude to my teachers for their indispensable aid to me, especially Mr. Hansen, Mr. Libby, Miss Dixon, Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. Mossesso, Mr. Rice, Mr. Walorz, Mr. Chamberlin, Mrs. Campbell (Up with the Moody Blues! Down with the John Birch Society!), and Dr. Yasuna. Last, honor and thanks of various levels of high magnitude to my “Faction” for their help and support (of any degree) through the years. Peter Harwood, Kristin Maczko, Joanne Ryan, Seamus Woods, Danny Campbell, Kori Wanner, Michael Fizzuglio, and Amanda Provost (special thanks to Amanda for introducing me to the Baha'i faith). I probably needed help in these years of my wrestling with order and chaos. Again, honor and thanks to all those mentioned above. The Bladesman has spoken.

Surfed throughout High School. To my friends: all of you made High School a time to remember. We gave and had many unforgettable experiences together. That's the way it should have been. I would just like to say to all of you, good luck in life. To the ECrew: only the best of times were spent with you guys. To Matt, Judd and Dante, we're set on our own separate paths now. Who knows from here. To any person I have ever surfed with: I'm sure I'll find that wave in Hawaii. To Sunny: You crept into my world and took me worlds away, by doing this you gave me a bigger heart to see and feel with, and I know I can always say I love you. To my Mom, my Dad and my family: you have always been there with me and for me. Thank you, and I love you. I'm going for a walk now. Later.

“I'm a stranger in, and afraid in, a world I never made.”

To my Mom who is not just my mom but my friend. To my brothers I love you. To Chris I love you and miss you! All the best times with Katie Allen, how's the wasp? How about some bog jumping? To my friends Dan E, Cory G, Kevin P, Corey R, have another one! Katie remember late night snaks and who can forget grandma anger? And don't let your dog near my suit! Is the world really round? Boy people should get a clue! Chuck my dear friend I would like to say thank you for all your friendship and help! To my husband Dan and my baby I love you very much. To myself, I did it, I really did it! To Miss Karbar and Miss Pozgay, I will miss you! Well it's been real! Goodbye Nauset and Class of "95." Corey R keep that tape out of the player! Katie & Dan Stop Kissing. I love all my friends.

"Looking Back . . ."

By Mica Richardson

My self-discovery. The time I realized not to follow the crowd but to follow my heart." Stephanie Wolff describes best her high school experiences. A few seniors answered two questions: 1) What experience has touched them most on a social and emotional level during their four years here, and 2) describe Nauset in a few words. Rhiannon Fernald responded, "In general, just the friends I've made . . . they will always be with me!" She added, "Nauset has been a gateway to my future!" Paul Dineen described Nauset as an "In depth planning of escape." Jeff Barrett said simply, "It was a good time." Christy White described Nauset as "A social mixture of people that come together to form a family."

We all have different feelings about high school, but what we all have in common is to have finally reached our senior year. We're contemplating to which college to apply and which major to choose or whether to take a year off to travel or work.

High school has taught us so much. We've worked hard at writing essays, preparing projects, participating on sports teams, joining clubs, and most of all, growing up. Maybe even a teacher or a principal has inspired one of us! All our wins and losses, all our A's and D's, the day we got our license, the day our outfit didn't look quite right, that party experience that we want to forget will all be with us throughout the rest of our lives. Many people have said that high school is the best time of our lives, and while not everybody may agree with this, if we really dig deep and think about it, it's true for many of us. We've all made lifelong friends and have had memorable experiences that will help us make valuable choices for the future.

High school is our home base for memories. It's the last time we are able to be "kids" while it is still "politically correct." It's the last time we have a choice as to when we want to work or party. We are about to be responsible for ourselves; making our own decisions and living with the consequences. High school is something you and I will never forget!

▲Maura Trainor and Joanne Ryan.

What was your worst party experience?

"Sully, your mom's home!"

Easy Driving!

By Kim Rogers

Getting a driving license is indeed one of the most nerve-racking experiences. I'm talking right up there with going to the dentist. It all starts in drivers ed. All of the long hours of seemingly pointless lecturing, and when that's done there is driving time to look forward to. Don't you just hate driving 40 miles per hour in a vehicle plastered with Student Driver signs. Just when you think things couldn't be any worse your 80 year old grandma passes you on the left going 60 mph.

Most likely the infamous appointment is made, you've by now heard all the driving horror stories, and all you have left to do is count down the days. Finally the big day arrives and it's time to go to the Registry of Motor Vehicles. Let's face it, we all know that it's no picnic. You pretend to be confident as you sweat bullets and nervously shake your legs. You go off with this stranger who sits idle evaluating your every move. "Back into that space miss." The words echo throughout the car. Right about now you're inbetween a rock and a hard place, do it perfectly or take out somebody's brand new BMW.

If you have the privilege to receive that 3 by 2 piece of plastic, way to go! Let me just warn you that this isn't a professional photography studio so don't be too surprised about the picture. The novelty will all eventually wear off. Now if you didn't get your license on the first try unfortunately you have to wait 10 days, and then get to go through this nightmare again!

All I know is that it's a big test . . .

by Andy Fyfe

Students in high schools all over America this year lost sleep over the infamous SAT's, or the Scholastic Aptitude Test, given at varying times over the school year. SAT's are, in a nutshell, Iowa Tests for big kids. That being the case, studying for them is difficult. Nonetheless, that didn't prevent millions of American teenagers from stampeding to the nearest bookstore or library to buy SAT preparation books.

Many colleges choose potential students on the partial basis of their SAT scores. Why this is remains a mystery. A shadowy SAT-Alien-University alliance would not be a far-off guess. That being the case, most Nauset students should do pretty well on it.

Vision blurs, hands become as trembling and damp as dying fish, and the heartbeat leaps to a machine-gun-fire rate. The SAT's are pretty nerve-wracking things, driving a large majority of students to become jittery, Prozac-popping balls of anxiety. After the first hour of filling in seemingly endless columns of circle after circle after circle after hypnotic circle, many people can get a little edgy. It's not unusual to see helplessly shaking victims of the SAT syndrome carried from the test on a stretcher. There is no known cure for this tragic affliction . . . other than maybe a good, long visit to the beach afterward. Says Emily Wentworth, in her own irrefutable and intimitable way, "NIGHT-MARE!"

On Looking

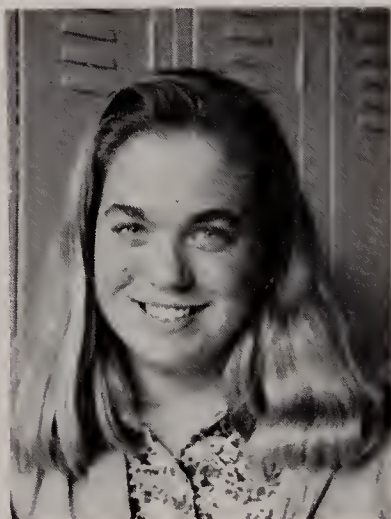

Crazy to be alive in such a strange world, Where mercy has no effect, and fingernails are filled with ambition. Rain drowns out the halo's brassy glow; the sea is massed, an eerie, misty breeze. On the tip of one's tongue, lust is emerging, strangely affecting those in its way. A stallion wrestles the angry river current, its rider, a small squirrel, clutches a violet between its paws. Shadows can dance by moonbeams in fields, leaping at each other, merging, becoming one. The key unlocks a haze which unfolds, springing into the air, creating a rainbow's unimaginable spectrum, dodging clouds, invading rays of sunlight, which intensify its beauty. Sparkling forever in the undiscovered corners of space.

Siren

the surf beats hollowly
the outer skin upon my skull and gulls scream above me and the salty grass beneath my palm dances coarse against my skin
as the golden locks of Medusa and yet I do not feel its touch and to the sea my ears are blind my eyes escape the stinging sun and all else but for you, my love and all else but for you...

For I can see your salt spray eyes and hear your haunting song of what I cannot have, my love of what I cannot have...

I know you feel my pained soul and hear my whispered pleas my broken voice is still, and yet you sing of what I need and though I cannot have these things wealth nor strength nor love your song will keep them for me, love your song will keep them all...

And death can reach my broken limbs
but bony ears still hear as do the scattered bones beside me on this rocky isle and if the earth is to take what the earth did give
I will still lie
though dry and white
upon your rocky isle, my love
upon your rocky isle...

And though I think my heart craves sleep
I long to hear your voice
I see the waves are growing dark the sky is colored gore
but won't you sing again, my love
but won't you sing once more.

Sophomore year?

I remember that. I couldn't find it.

We regret to inform you that this article has been cancelled due to the fact that sophomore year is the time in your life that just seems to bring out a pointless and enduring battle to find out what's going on this weekend?

WALKING OVER

I feel a certain kind of uneasiness.
 I feel a knot in my stomach.
 I feel my heart deepen, and seem heavier.
 I feel a streak of life run through my soul.
 I feel pain, never like this before.
 I feel warmth all over my body and soul.
 I feel as if the whole world has stopped, just for me.
 I feel anger coming out, but not knowing what to do with it.
 I feel peace, with the annoyance that came before.
 I feel that nothing I give will ever be enough to please this person.
 I feel unable to control my needs.
 I feel that nothing in the world could ever mean as much, as what we have, together.
 I feel I've been lifted up and carried to a higher plain, I can see everything from here.
 I feel energy
 I feel lost
 I feel openness
 I feel happy
 I feel sad
 I feel wanted
 I feel low
 I feel high
 I feel free
 I feel confused
 I feel like I know everything
 I feel myself falling in love.

Pearls of Wisdom

By: Becky Banas

Once in a blue moon is the advice from the infamous senior to the wide-eyed freshmen taken to heart. The senior will often give "pearls of wisdom" that are less than perfect (and often frustrating) to their interested and eager listeners. Nonetheless the following seniors felt it was their duty to reveal most treasured advice to their up and coming successors:

"Suck up to all your teachers! You never know when you'll need a recommendation!" Jonathan Wood

"Enjoy this year as much as possible — it's the only one you can blow off." Andy Fyfe

"Fill all your credits up so you can have five art periods a day, like me!" Big Kyle Lindholm

"Walk around with an attitude!" Maya McCray

"Don't try to change the school, and stay true to yourself." Marc Smith

"Get involved with school activities." Meaghan Brady

"Learn how to be a good person, and don't ck up!!" Dylan Prince

"Respect your upperclassmen!" Jessica Starr

"You'll be safe if you stay away from senior BOYS!" Taryn McGlynn

"Stay away from drugs and make sure you graduate" Shon Crandell

"Don't be forced to grow up before your time." Matt Higgins

Toto, I Don't Think We're in Kansas Anymore!

by Andy Fyfe

For freshmen, high school life is filled with opportunity, and new and (occasionally dangerous) experiences that will leave memories lasting a lifetime. Higher learning takes a back seat to sensory overload and daily survival . . . because who can remember when the Battle of Salamis was fought, when they're trying desperately to extort a ride from an upperclassman? Before freshman year, most of us never associated visiting the bathroom with toxic smoke inhalation. And on a campus that looks like a Soviet bomb shelter, where you need a compass and a grappling hook to get to your second period typing class, it can be tricky to keep your mind on your homework. It's tough to enter a new school at the bottom of the social ladder, just when you've spent four years clawing your way to the top in the middle school. But the rewards are pretty cool . . . new and different friends, challenging classes and a whole new kind of party scene. And the friends you make freshman year will be the ones you'll come to depend on all through high school, through the good and the bad. So even though freshman year is a big, new struggle, it's a fantastic ride!

“Times They are a Changin’ ”

by: Kim Rogers

Would you ever protest to get into school? That's what the first graduating class of The Nauset Regional High School did in 1971! Grades 5 through 12 were all housed in the same building, the present middle school. Due to overcrowding, double sessions were held: grades 5-8 went 4 hours in the early morning and grades 9-12, 4 hours in the afternoon. Only 4 hours, you'd think that this would have been seen as a blessing. But the older students were annoyed at the delayed opening of their new building, which was to have been ready in September. True to the times, they organized a protest. Who knows whether it helped speed up the opening, but the separate high school building did become a reality in December, 1971.

The new NRHS was very much a reflection of the times. A laid back atmosphere and being your own individual was emphasized. Students questioning the values of society responded by going against tradition as well as the system. This first graduating class of the new high school decided not to wear caps and gowns, eliminated the prom, and instead planned a senior banquet. Their '72 yearbook read, "never let your schooling interfere with your education."

Although it was supposedly considered "cool" to do your own thing, ironically there was a definite division of cliques with very little interaction. People were labeled as "Jocks," "Dramas," "Druggies," or "Preppies." No matter what the group however, long hair was the style worn by the majority of the students, especially the guys. The true radicals wore their hair down their backs, but for the average "clean-cut" guy, their hair shaggily covered their ears.

Unheard of now, there was actually a strict dress code in the late 60's. Girls weren't allowed to wear pants! To show their disapproval of the policy, they would have sit-ins in the hallways. Because of student pressure, the code was eventually amended, although jeans were not allowed to be worn by either gender. The mini skirt (the shorter the better) emerged as a very popular trend. However, school administration regulations stated that skirts could only be worn an inch above the knee. It was even possible to be sent home if a skirt appeared too short!

As Bob Dylan sang, "times they are a changin'" and this was evident here in the early 70's. Seniors were allowed to lounge in the courtyard if they didn't have an assigned study hall or actually even "sun-bathe," some actually in their bathing suits. This mellow atmosphere was also prevalent academically. There was no curriculum guide. Instead, students would sign up for quarterly electives in which they chose their course and teacher. Because student enrollment was a mere 600 students as opposed to almost 900 now, students got a chance to develop a better one on one connection with teachers.

Whatever the time period, there have always been students striving for excellence here, be it in athletics, academics, the arts or "dropping into" the biggest wave. In an everchanging society, Nauset remains a serene constant.

If school could be ideal for you, what would it be like?

"I'd like to see more upperclassmen getting involved within the school."

— Mr. Rouleau

"Respect would be shown by each and everyone in our community."

— Mr. Conrad

"We'd have a longer lunch, and if you wanted to leave then to go eat somewhere else you could."

— Sarah Delaney

"Like a carnival."

Hey John, what's for suppa? spaghetti, always spaghetti ... but anyway, about our program ... We the members of the Alternative Learning Group have chosen to approach our education in a way slightly different from the norm. This choice means accepting the responsibility of our own education. The ideal ALG student, in my opinion, is a person who knows what (s)he wants to learn and then goes after it with curiosity, passion and independence. A student could quest after their own education on their own time but the ALG program not only validates their quest but gives them a community and resources with which to work. Each student enters the program with his or her own motive and can use the program to a different extent. There are people who are almost full time ALG students, filling their English, History and P.E. requirements with us, as well as taking electives like Psychology, Enrichment Seminar, and Future Problem Solving. There are others who are involved in only one class or activity. And although the program involves over ninety students and is quite varied, there is still a feeling of unity (of ALG-ness) that comes from John's presence, the warm cushions in the corner and the general energy that rises from our gatherings.

No Multiple Choice!

▲ Gymnastics

I think exchange programs are among the neatest things invented! You get to speak a new language, and you come in contact with people you ordinarily wouldn't.

The new friends they've made is what Anne and Maria stressed when I asked them about their experiences. "The people here," says Maria, "just come up and talk to you, even if they don't know you!"

In addition to Nauset's friendliness, school seems much easier here as opposed to "over there." If in Norway this year, Anne could have expected term finals with oral and written parts, given at Christmas, Easter and the end of school. The worst thing she says is "There is no such thing as multiple choice!" And, each final, one for each subject, takes a whole day!

Maria said that in Ecuador, you must decide what type of education you want, and then start off sophomore year studying in one of three areas: Social Studies, Sciences, or Mathematics. Once you start, you can't switch, you stay in the same program all through college.

Another difference is Norway's "lack" of vacations. Anne tells me sadly that at home she has no February or Thanksgiving breaks and Halloween isn't even celebrated. "I'm going to miss the time off from school!" she laughs. For Anne, this year's meager snowfall was nothing, but for Maria, this was her first real winter. She laughs and tells how the Spanish V class staged a snowball fight in her honor!

Both Anne and Maria agreed that there is more respect for teachers in their countries, or perhaps a better way to put it would be there is more formality. Maria explained, "You have to be careful of what you say." Also, there is no talking in class and you must sit correctly, you know the good posture your grandmother insists upon.

I've learned a lot from Maria and Anne and, while Norway has no multiple choice, and Ecuador has no snow, they both sound like great places to visit. So, in short, if you haven't met Anne or Maria, you've got the summer to do so before they leave, and you might make a new friend!

YEAH, LET'S GO FLY A KITE!

RIGHT ON!

WEEEB

by: Andy Fyfe

Art is an almost impossible concept to define. Therefore, as Ms. Potoff and Ms. Langlais can attest, art class is the science of teaching and learning impossible concepts! Students of varying levels of dedication, practice, and ability gather in the artroom's paint-and-goo-splattered halls to make pretty and or disturbing pictures and other "stuff." We have access to all sorts of flammable and sticky material, from paint sticks to batik wax. Creating a variety of works, from the elusive papier-mache to the ever-popular watercolor paintings, the art students collaborate to make the world a more beautiful (?), provocative place. Many of us are going on to college and perhaps a career in art, but some just do it because they love it. The school's artists brave the hazards of flaming rubber cement and toxic marker fumes to beautify our school. But those are not the only occupational hazards for our brave young aspiring artists . . . wading through knee-deep collage fodder, deadly turpentine clouds, and avoiding Kyle when he feels rambunctious are further distractions. Some art forms go unappreciated at Nauset . . . the work of the Nasty Chicken Front, for example, or the mysterious appearance of "Mothra" graffiti in 1991. But even these unrecognized artists persevere, knowing in their hearts that there is no joy like that of creation!

If Music be the Food of Love, Play On!

by: Chris Fuller

Ah, yes, the joy that is music. The universal language, the food of love. There's a lot to be said about music nowadays. There's all different variations on jazz, blues, rap, classical, country, alternative, and rock. No one is all too sure where to draw the lines defining these categories. And it seems all of these artists from these different groups are delivering messages that are at odds with each other. But are they? Music lights the fire in all of us whether it be Bach or Nine-Inch Nails, Bob Dylan or Miles Davis. We don't listen to it solely because of the lyrics, but because of the melody, the harmony, the rhythm, the syncopation, the chords, the notes, the intervals, the music. We all have an innate taste for music. That is the reason we all enjoy the same inspiring gift in so many different fashions. When Sepultura writes a piece they're using the same tools Mozart utilized! The foundation of music is the same all across the boards. I've chosen to make music an integral part of my life. It happened in part right here in Nauset's own music department. I've gained all of the fundamental skills to bring music to life for myself. Nothing parallels the feeling of playing a sonata for a crowded auditorium, or singing the last note of a touching ballad. I wish everyone had a chance to enjoy music from that angle. It puts everything into perspective. Whether your favorite band is Rush, Green Day, or our own Cheese-wheel, No Siento, King of Birds; or the New York Philharmonic, there's a place here for you to learn more about their art. Music has given me direction and all that's left for me to do is follow.

"Just Playing Around"

by: Hilary Lay

The Nauset Players Drama Club is an accumulation of a large variety of eclectic individuals who come together to put on some outrageously fantastic shows. They began this year in a jibbering, drooling frenzy with "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest", the psychological thriller set in a loony bin, (were they even acting?!?), directed by the esteemed Miles Corey. Upon recovering from this experience, the Drama Club divided up to work on the student directed One-Act Plays, (including the sprawling original period piece "Voodoo Reservoir") and the award-winning New England Drama Festival one-act, "Early Frost." When not performing dramatically on-stage for you, these manic thespians can be found strenuously rehearsing to memorize lines and blocking to perfect the production in an unbelievably short amount of time. As Miles will be leaving after Festival, the players are now diligently in search of a director for this spring's musical production of "Fame". The Players would like to give a round of appreciative applause to all those who have been gracious enough to attend their performances and support the Drama Club.

The Six Minute Warriors

by: Big Kyle

Warrior Wrestling is Nauset's only full-contact sport. The program is brand new since last year. Its team record is somewhat less than fabulous, having only won one meet, but not disgraceful by any means. After all, the team veterans only have two years experience in the sport. And almost 50% of the team are only in their first year of participation. It is impressive that they win at all!

To wrestle is one thing, to be a wrestler is another. Learning to wrestle with no previous experience is like learning a new language. Not only must the athlete learn the language, but the spectator must also. Wrestling encompasses moves and phrases that leave the crowd clueless . . . such as "shoot in," "sink the half," and "cover down." The spectator can't help but wonder "Just what's so tough?" "Six minutes" they say unimpressed. First hand I can tell you, wrestling is one sport where 100% can fall short. Wrestling challenges the mind as well as the body. It requires skill, focus, and absolute dedication. It is the ultimate combination of intensity and instinct. Wrestlers struggle through pain, exhaustion, and frustration the entire season, but when the season is over . . . you want it back.

Sure the Warriors have put on a few less than spectacular performances. Don't give up on them. The team is still an infant in the wrestling world, yet an intimidating one!

A Track Meet? What's that?

by: Dan Deschamps

Have you ever been to a track meet? Probably not! The truth is, other than parents and a boyfriend or girlfriend here and there, the boys and girls track teams get very few spectators. Yet the track teams are among the biggest sports at Nauset in number of athletes, and they are perennial powerhouses. Last year our girls posted a record of 8-0 in the Mayflower League and 14-2-2 overall. Their performances should only improve this year!

Most track athletes say that they joined the team to get in shape, but they soon realized that they can get much more out of it than that. With so many participants, track is a great way to meet a lot of new people. Another enjoyable aspect of track is that it is an individual sport, verses a team sport. The athletes find that allows them to see their own improvement, account for their own mistakes, strive for their own goals, work at their own pace, and it teaches the athlete to be self motivated.

So, who cares if you don't get many fans? And who cares if you get a very small write up, if one at all, in the paper? Not our track athletes! They are getting more important things out of track. No, track is not a spectator's sport, it is a participant's sport!

Fire on Ice Hockey

by: Jessie Davis

The ice was on fire this winter as the Nauset Warriors skated their way to a Cape and Islands victory. The Warriors led the league with a 15-0-1 record. The invincible hockey team was headed by three outstanding captains, Kerry Norton, Steve Badera, and Peter Harwood. Not everyone knows all the hard work that the team puts into the season. Practices are hard, from skating late at night to waking up at 5:00 in the morning to skate for 1 to 2 hours before putting in a full day of school. "All the hard work that the team put in at practice paid off in the games. We don't have one outstanding player. We are all pretty much equal. We help each other out in practice. Limited time on the ice makes us work hard, we don't have time to slack," said Steve Badera. It sure showed as the Warriors maintained an almost perfect record. Bourne was their biggest rival this season, but they didn't slow down the Warriors, as they out-skated them twice. A big victory for a big team! Even though their record is near perfect, not everything in hockey is. Such things as finding ice time, wearing heavy equipment, and trying to lug it all around. But despite the bad, the good is shining through. Peter Harwood summed the season up best by saying, "The biggest key to this year's success was the team's positive attitude." As they showed, they are the best team on the cape.

Hidden Talent

by: Emily Wentworth, Becky Banas, Dylan Prince

If you were to look deeply into the lives of the students at Nauset you would find a lot of hidden talent. We all know about the basketball, hockey, and soccer stars but we don't hear much about the blue ribbon horseback riders, the ice skating queen or the other stars of sports outside of school.

Some of the students here hope to enter into the Olympics one day. They practice long tedious hours and often before the rest of the world has awakened. They are motivated to fulfill their dreams and the ribbons and trophies lining their walls will attest to this determination. Ice skaters like Stephanie Wolff, Jessica Starr, Kim Rogers put in hard hours of practice to reach their goals. Some of the skaters, like Briana Lackenby and Maudi Kalangie, skate with Nancy Kerrigan.

Some sports bring you a terrific sense of triumph. Ask a skateboarder like Silas Finch, Broderick Gumpwright, or John Skarupa about learning a new trick, or a mountain climber like Casey Gallant about reaching the summit. They know what it takes to be the best.

Look at the many surfers who check the surf daily. The true hard cores such as Dylan Prince, Kerry Norton, Mike Gradone, Will Buzzel, Josh Clements, Mike Lauro, and Ben Ribnick will wake up while it's still dark in the middle of December to catch a session before school.

There is no team cheering you on, or counting on you for the last game point. The only motivation and cheering section they have comes from within themselves. So to all of our skaters, horseback riders, snowboarders, skiers, dancers, surfers, bikers, bowlers, rock climbers, skateboarders, karate and yoga masters, keep up the good work. You are no longer the only ones who can see your talent; we too, are cheering you on.

How could we forget! Matt Higgins,
Allison Hunter, Mica Richardson; ...
& thanks to Jess Davis.

To The Class of 1995:

Well, Kiddos, We hope you like it! After a year of dedication, anxiety, wishing, and fun, the 1995 Nauset Tides is completed! All the deadlines have been met (even if they were all late!) and all the late nights are over. Thank God!!

Reflecting on our objectives, ideas, and the vision of "Rolling with the Tides" we are proud to say that we accomplished our goals for this book. We hope you, the members of the Class of '95, enjoy this edition as much as we did creating it. We tried to design a book that was different than all the others, but also a book that remained true to the traditions of the past. (CHEEZ!)

Our layouts and copy reached a new height. The theme "Rolling with the Tides" and the cover design were chosen because we wanted to express Nauset's laid back attitude. The theme also reflects the school's oceanside location which for those of us who are leaving, will be missed, yet always remembered.

Our experience this year taught us the values of hard work, dedication, teamwork, and compromise. Through the relentless pursuit of perfection and "continuity," we have learned the responsibilities of commitment. We would like to thank the members of the staff who put in the time and effort to help us accomplish and realize our goals for this book.

And now we come to the person who helped us all along, Carol Potoff: "P." Um . . . what can we say? . . . for the first time in our lives we can't think of anything to say! However if there is one person who we are going to miss, it will be you! (Even though no matter where we are, we will be able to hear your "Hello Darling!!") Thanks for one heck of a year! P.S. We love you!

And finally, to the class of 1995: As we reached our goals in the production of this book, we wish the same success in your futures.

Sincerely,

Christy, Emily, and Jonathan

To Lindsay:

All our love,
Mom & Dad
Soul Of My Soul
Mr. Bolton's Music Inc.

We may be strangers
We may be worlds apart sometimes
And it's hard to accept
The things we just don't understand
So blind to each other
We only see one side of nowhere
Some things we may never know
If there's one thing you should ever know

Soul of my soul, heart of my heart
The greatest treasure of my life that's what you are
Soul of my soul, child of my heart
I love you more than you know, soul of my soul

Into this world
We come with a heart that's open wide
And the best of this life
Is all I ever want for you
The love you believe in, your every dream
Your every passion
To time I know you'll come to see
Nothing means as much to me

Soul of my soul, heart of my heart
The greatest treasure of my life that's what you are
Soul of my soul, child of my heart
I love you more than you know, soul of my soul

There'll come a time when you'll be on your own
But in your heart you're never far from home
Every road you take
Your every living day
You will always be, you will always be
Soul of my soul

Soul of my soul, heart of my heart
The greatest treasure of my life that's what you are
Soul of my soul, child of my heart
I love you more than you know, soul of my soul
Soul of my soul, heart of my heart
Some kind of miracle of life that's what you are Blood of my blood, light of my life
You mean much more than you know
Soul of my soul

Through the bad and good,
as a family we have stood.
With your smile and love
shining bright,
you are one of my guiding lights.
Congratulations!

Dear Bree,
You have given us so much love and happiness. We are so very proud of you. Believe in yourself and all your dreams will come true! We will be there for you always.

Love,
Mom & Dad 94-95

Our sorrow is in that you couldn't wait, but we know you're here today and that past sacrifices continue to make it happen.

You will be with us forever.

You've pursued the important, faced the challenge, reflected the spirit, and continued the dream.

Your love shines into the deepest reaches of our hearts.

Vicki,
We are so proud of your accomplishments,
but more importantly,
we love you for who you are.

Love,
Mom, Dad, & Tina

We are all so proud of you — your accomplishments, your charm, the overall good example you set. We love you and wish you the best of luck, health, and happiness.

Mom and John, Dad and Sue, Kelli, Katie,
Abby, Sam, and Michelle

Congratulations Heidi! We've always been so proud of you on the field, on the court and in the classroom. We want you to know how very much we love you and always will. Good luck in college. We'll miss you!!

Love,
Mom, Dad, Holley, Jake, Tucker, Muffy & Snickers

Taryn, Congratulations!

You've filled our lives with sunshine. We're so proud of you princess.

We love you,

Dad

Artists touch the soul as you touch ours.
On the path ahead you will touch many more.
Your gifts are your own as is your heart.
Remain free willed and spirited, the future is yours.

May God Bless and keep you always
May your wishes all come true
May you always do for others
And may others do for you.
May you build a ladder to the stars,
Climb on every rung.
And may you stay FOREVER YOUNG.

May you grow up to be righteous
May you grow up to be true
May you always know the truth
And see the light surrounding you
May your heart always be joyful
May your song always be sung
And may you stay FOREVER YOUNG.

May your hand always be steady
May your feet always be swift
May you have a strong foundation
When the winds of changes shift
May you always be courageous
Stand upright and be strong
And may you stay FOREVER YOUNG.

^{REAL}
THE CLASS HISTORY
BY: Paul & Big Kyle

2 the class of 1995...it has been customary for yearbooks to house a line of all the car washes, walk-a-thons, and pizza & hot chocolate ^{SALKS} that the Senior Class had done in its last 4 years...but, not this year...

Before we continue, let's pay homage to the many Principles and Vice-Principles whose ~~xxxx~~ careers we either helped end or just watched end...

Mr. Atkins, Mrs. Crookshank, Mr. Ballerino, Mr. Bernard, and dear old Mr. Teguis. Count your blessings Mr. Conrad, be glad we spared you.

~~Nauset~~ Nauset Regional Middle School, the institution that brought us all together...Let us never forget the special feelings we hold ~~xxxx~~ for it.

MEMORY LANE

Let's start ~~at~~ at the beginning...Sister Abigail's Psycho Swamp-Romp. check this box ☐ if you learned anything that day...and ~~how~~ how about the 8th Grade New York Trip...check this box ☐ if ^{you} got caught shoplifting and check this box ☐ if you saw a hooker, a crime being committed or a grown man urinating on the street. But seriously we must thank Mrs. Galligan for her perseverance ^{SP} and for following through on what could have only been a personal hell.

Field Trips! We all loved Field Trips! Too bad 8 out of 10 were to the Museum of Science and the other two were to the Art Museum. And here's to ~~missing~~ missing the renovations. We were cursed to never attend a school equipped with adequate facilities.

Nauset Regional High School, say bye-bye...Now that we are BIG BAD SENIORS we can look back at the seniors of our past, and the example they set for us, for example:

-Damian setting the Art room on fire. Doughnuts on the Track. AND random acts of senseless and childish behavior...stuff we never would do. It's a wonder we turned out like we did.

So it seemed nothing could rid us of the boardum caused by the lifeless winters of Cape Cod. And in no way could we comprehend why it ~~was~~ that our ~~parents~~ parents lived here...check this box ☐ if you've ever said "So what do you wanna do?" every NIGHT for the last four years...and check this box ☐ IF YOU'VE answered, "I don't know, what do you wanna do?" every night for the last four years. And nothing competes with our summers...check this box ☐ if you work in a Clam Shack twelve hours a day.

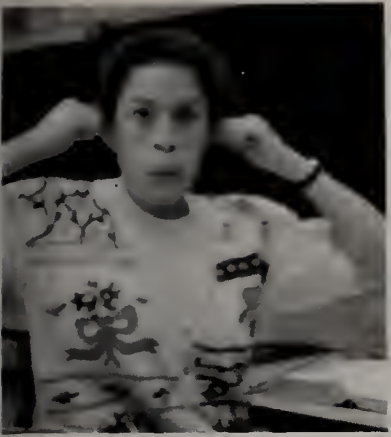

And as far as parties went ~~x~~...well, any parties (which were ~~few~~ few and far between) over ten people were either over or broken up by eleven so...that's that...check this box ☐ if you've been to a good party where the Police weren't invited ^{or} the deck didn't fall off.

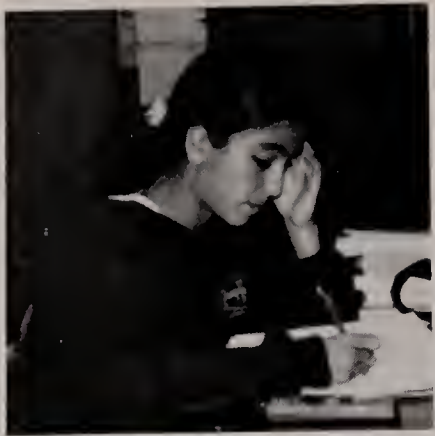

Check this box ☐ if ~~xxx~~ your parents were lame more than once during your Senior year. Check this box ☐ if ~~x~~ you can't remember half the stuff you'd ~~xxx~~ like to, about the last four years. And check this box ☐ if there's stuff you'd love to forget. And last but certainly not least, check this box ☐ if you're glad we're out of here. In parting, keep this in mind...Life is hard and sometimes it can ~~Suxk~~ ^{Suxk}...but look at your alternative.

THE END.
